

Colourful chameleons

These unusual lizards can look in two directions at once, shoot out their tongues, and even change colour. Wow!

Magical Madagascar

Almost half of the world's chameleon species are only found in Madagascar. This island is off the coast of Africa, and home to incredible wildlife.

Chameleons can move each eye separately to look in two different directions at the same time.

