

Tarantulas

Tarantulas are big spiders with fuzzy legs and bristly bodies. Unlike many other spiders, they don't spin webs, and most of them burrow under the ground.

Are they deadly?

No – tarantulas are hairy, not scary!

They carry venom in their fangs, but it usually isn't strong enough to hurt people.

Fang

The Mexican red-kneed tarantula is generally docile. However, if it feels threatened, it flicks spiky hairs at attackers, which can sting them and get in their eyes.
