

Wild animals don't need to go to school, so what do they get up to? Well, they spend most of their time looking for food, communicating with each other, moving from place to place, and avoiding enemies. Find out how!

