

Using tools

Some animals have learned how to use tools to get food, protect themselves, or just make their lives a little bit easier.

Sea otters use rocks to smash open the hard shells of crabs, clams, oysters, and sea urchins before they eat them.

I wave my anemones like a cheerleader waves pom-poms!

Anemones sting, so pom-pom crabs sometimes pick up an anemone in each claw and use them as weapons.