Fly

Creepy-crawlies such as flies, ants, spiders, and crabs, all belong to a large group of animals called arthropods.

A world of bugs

Arthropods are the most successful animals on Earth. There are more of them than other animals, and they've been around for millions of years.

Types of arthropod

Earth's thousands of different arthropods are split into different groups. Here are the main ones.

Bees, ants, flies, and beetles are insects. Insects have six legs and three body sections. Most of them have wings.
