

HUB OF STARS

One of the most famous multiple star systems, Theta (θ) Orionis, or the Trapezium (top left of image), is the middle star in the sword of Orion (see pp.390–391). Its four brightest stars are easily separated with a telescope, but it is made up of a total of at least 10 stars.