

MILLIMETER ARRAY

Moonlight illuminates the antennae of the Atacama Large Millimeter Array (ALMA) on the Chajnantor Plateau in Chile. Each of the dishes is 39 ft (12 m) in diameter and observes the sky at millimeter and submillimeter wavelengths, between the infrared and radio parts of the spectrum, detecting objects in nearby star-forming regions to galaxies in the distant universe.

