

The Internet

From chatting with friends and shopping online to checking the news and learning new skills, the Internet plays a major role in everyday life. It can also provide a way to relax, and a place to hang out with friends and communicate with the wider world.

Always changing

The Internet allows people to stay in touch and gives them access to up-to-date knowledge. It's also a built-in feature of many new inventions and accessories, known as "smart" devices, which learn the user's preferences over time.

SEE ALSO

Social media	130–131 >
Making judgments	134–135 >
Staying safe online	140–141 >
Gaming	144–145 >

Learn

- Research and study for school.
- Find new hobbies and interests.
- Watch how-to tutorials.
- Participate in long-distance learning.
- Gain new digital skills.

Discover

- Find information on just about anything.
- Get advice for dealing with problems.
- Navigate around new places.
- Meet people with similar interests.

Play

- Play video games online with people all around the world.
- Try out augmented and virtual reality.
- Discover new music.

