

Preventing pimples

Taking steps to prevent pimples is easier than trying to treat them once they appear. Maintaining a regular skin-care regime even during pimple-free periods will help teens' skin to stay healthy.

Feeling self-conscious

The important thing to remember about pimples is that, though they may make a teen feel self-conscious or ashamed, most people won't notice. Even if anyone does notice, they will most likely have had pimples themselves, and sympathize.

◁ Don't suffer in silence
If pimples are making a teen feel anxious, it's a good idea to see a doctor for treatment.

GOOD TO KNOW

Popping pimples

No matter how much you want to get rid of them, it's best to leave pimples alone. Popping them can spread bacterial infection and may lead to scarring. However, if the temptation becomes too much to resist, it's essential to wash your hands thoroughly beforehand, use only the fingertips, and if it doesn't pop or any blood is drawn, stop immediately.

▷ Resist the urge
Although tempting, popping pimples can often make them worse.
