

5 Cut another strip of the backing paper for the inside of the bangle. This will need to cover the entire inside surface for a neat finish. Glue in place and leave to dry.

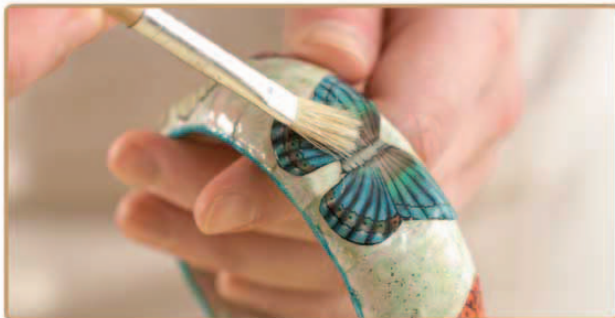

6 Carefully cut out the motifs. Position them around the bangle using white tack, moving them around until you have decided on a design that works for you.

7 Glue the motifs onto the bangle. Take care when sticking down the motifs as they are likely to tear easily when wet with glue, and will be difficult to reposition.

8 Paint a thin border around the top edge of the bangle; leave to dry. Turn the bangle around and paint the other edge. Add glitter, if desired, and leave to dry.

9 Varnish the bangle and leave to dry for two to three days, turning occasionally. When hardened, repeat with a second coat of varnish. Leave to dry as before.
