

Birds of the world

There are more than 8,500 different birds, and they live in every part of the world. Each bird's body and feeding habits have evolved to suit where it lives.

Did you know?

The rhinoceros hornbill has a box on its beak that makes its call so loud it can be heard over 1 mile (2 km) away.

Bald eagle

The bald eagle, found in North America, swoops down to grab its prey.

Barn owl

The barn owl lives in northern Europe, feeding on small mammals.

Shelduck

The shelduck feeds on small shellfish. It is found on river estuaries in Southeast Asia.

Toucan

Toucans live in the hot, steamy rain forests of South America, eating tropical fruit.

Scarlet macaw

Macaws live on the edge of South American rain forests. They eat fruit, nuts, and seeds.

Emperor penguin

Penguins live in icy cold Antarctica. They can't fly, but are excellent swimmers.

Sunbirds

Native to Africa, scarlet-chested sunbirds eat insects and nectar.

Flamingo

Many flamingos live by hot lakes in Africa. They feed on tiny shrimps and algae.

Cockatoo

Living on the Australian grasslands, cockatoos feed on seeds and leaves.

Kiwi

Kiwis can't fly. They live only in New Zealand.

