Major scales

All major scales are broken down into the same pattern of whole steps and half steps as the C major scale. To maintain this pattern, major scales that start on a note other than C must include sharps or flats. The scales with sharps are shown first, followed by the scales with flats. Major scales include the same sharps or flats as their corresponding major key signatures.

The image displays eight musical staves, each representing a major scale. Each staff begins with a treble clef and a key signature symbol (sharp or flat) indicating the scale's key. The scales are written in a sequence from C major at the top to C# major at the bottom. The notes are represented by whole notes, and the scales are arranged to show the pattern of whole and half steps across the octave.
