

One sound, many names

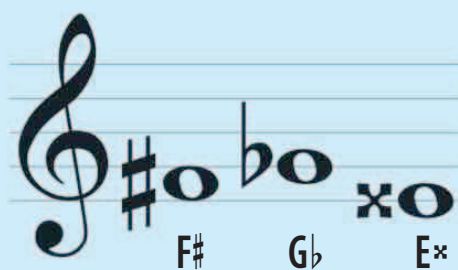

Sharps, flats, naturals, double sharps, and double flats mean that the same key on the keyboard can be given several different names, and can be written in various positions on the staff. Here are a few examples:

◁ F
This note on the keyboard can be written as F, E $\sharp$, or G $\flat$ on the staff.

◁ A
This note on the keyboard can be written as A, G $\times$, or B $\flat$ on the staff.

◁ F
This note on the keyboard can be written as F $\sharp$, G $\flat$, or E $\times$ on the staff.

◁ G
This note on the keyboard can be written as G $\sharp$ or A $\flat$ on the staff.
