

Phrases

A PHRASE IS A GROUP OF WORDS THAT MAKE UP PART OF A SENTENCE.

Phrases add information to a sentence, but they only make complete sense as part of a sentence. A phrase does not contain a verb, and it can perform the function of an adjective, an adverb, or a noun.

Adjective phrases

Like adjectives, adjective phrases describe nouns or pronouns. An adjective phrase usually starts with an adverb or a preposition. It can be placed before or after the noun or pronoun it describes.

The drummer, very red-faced,
The shocked members of the band

• Phrases can be used instead of one-word adjectives or adverbs to make a piece of writing more interesting.

Most dictionary definitions are adjective phrases.

Noun phrases

A noun phrase is made up of a noun and any words that are modifying that noun, including articles, determiners, and adjectives or adjective phrases. Noun phrases work in exactly the same way as nouns in a sentence.
