

CANCER

The Crab

The faintest constellation of the Zodiac (the band of sky through which the Sun moves), Cancer contains the spectacular star cluster Praesepe, which looks like a swarm of bees.

DATA FILE

SIZE RANKING: 31st

BRIGHTEST STAR: Altarf

MONTH WHEN BEST VISIBLE:
March – Northern hemisphere

LEO MINOR

The Little Lion

This faint constellation represents a small lion, on the back of Leo (the lion). Leo Minor was introduced by Johannes Hevelius in 1687.

DATA FILE

SIZE RANKING: 64th

BRIGHTEST STAR: Praecipua

MONTH WHEN BEST VISIBLE: April –
Northern hemisphere

