

CRATER

The Cup

This constellation represents the cup of water carried to the god Apollo by the crow (Corvus) in Greek mythology. According to the myth, Apollo threw both into the sky.

DATA FILE

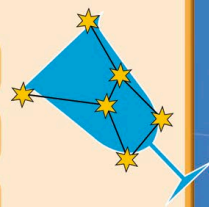

SIZE RANKING: 53rd

BRIGHTEST STAR: Delta Crateris

MONTH WHEN BEST VISIBLE: April – Southern hemisphere

CORVUS

The Crow

Though it is small, this star pattern, which represents a celestial bird, has quite a long history – right back to the Babylonians in 1100 BCE, who saw this constellation as a raven.

DATA FILE

SIZE RANKING: 70th

BRIGHTEST STAR: Gienah

MONTH WHEN BEST VISIBLE: May – Southern hemisphere

