

A background image showing an astronaut in a space station, looking out a window at Earth. The astronaut is wearing a white shirt and is positioned in the foreground, with their back to the camera. The space station's interior is visible, with various equipment and cables. A circular patch with a colorful design and the text "DAVE NEW EMM" is visible on a piece of equipment in the lower right.

4

SPACE EXPLORATION

Exploring space is perhaps the greatest adventure of all. In this great age of space exploration, hardy robotic probes have voyaged to comets, asteroids, moons, and planets, while intrepid human explorers have not only orbited our planet, but have also walked on the Moon, lived and worked for long periods on space stations, and may be only decades away from flying to Mars and beyond.