

Your baby at...

6-7 months

Your six-month-old is developing new skills as he gains more control over his body and his reflexes drop away. His improving strength and coordination skills mean that he may now be sitting upright and even preparing to crawl, and he is beginning to use arm gestures to make himself understood. He is now refining his senses of touch, sight, taste, hearing, and smell. He is more self-aware, and he is thriving on repetition to consolidate his learning.
