

Animal magic

Visit friends who own pets if you don't have your own, so your baby can watch the animals closely from the safety of your arms, hear the noises they make, and become familiarized with them so he's not easily scared. A visit to a petting zoo or educational farm is another good way of introducing him to animals. Explain the importance of always asking to pet an animal before touching it so he understands good pet manners from an early age.

7
HINOW