

Take a texture trip

Walk around the house with your baby looking for objects with texture: a soft carpet, cool fridge, hard floor, fluffy towel, furry toy, smooth cushion, silky scarf, and so on. Let her feel the objects as you name and describe them.

Water play

If it's warm outside, sit your baby on the grass or a mat in front of a plastic tub or bowl with a little lukewarm water—or dig out her old baby bath. If it's cold outside, lay some newspaper or a waterproof mat on the floor indoors. Add a few plastic cups or measuring spoons, or plastic bath toys, and pour in a little child-friendly bubble bath if you want bubbles in the bowl too. Show her how to practice her hand-eye coordination by patting the surface of the water with her hands and picking up the objects.
