

Take a train ride

Make a visit to a local train station together. Watch the trains arrive and depart, copy the noises the brakes and doors of the trains make, and talk about the people getting on and off the trains.

If it's not too far to travel, buy a ticket and take a train ride to the next station and back. Describe what you can see as you look out of the window together. Alternatively, make a pretend ticket from cardboard at home before you leave and give it to your baby to hold while you watch the trains go past.
