

Make a shell wind chime

Twist the tip of a pair of sharp nail scissors through a shell to make a hole. Repeat with more shells, then thread them onto several lengths of string with a knot in between each shell. Secure the strings to a piece of driftwood, bamboo, or a large shell or starfish so the shells dangle down and collide as they move.