

Your baby at...

8-9 months

At around the same time that separation anxiety kicks in, your baby is becoming more curious about other babies as interesting objects and may try to make contact by patting, touching, and babbling at them. He can comprehend how objects such as a cup or hairbrush are used, and understand what the word “no” means. His sense of humour is evolving fast, as is his ability to crawl or bottom-shuffle!
