

Rearrange your kitchen cupboards

A low-level cupboard or drawer of baby-friendly kitchen equipment may keep your baby entertained for far longer than some of her toys. Even if you're tight on space, try to reorganize and store your plastic cups, plates, bowls, and Tupperware storage containers where they are easy for her to reach for and remove. Why not include a plastic spoon or scoop in a small cardboard box, or add some soft balls or pompoms to a plastic bowl for her to discover and play with.

Outdoor peekaboo

At this age, your baby is just beginning to understand that you being out of sight doesn't mean that you aren't there anymore, and that eventually you will reappear. Play peekaboo when you are out for a walk in the park to reinforce the idea of person permanence. Hide your face behind your hat or an umbrella, or hide behind a park bench or a nearby tree so she can still see your body, and then pop your head out with a silly expression on your face as you say "peekaboo!"
