

Ocean bottle

Fill a small plastic water bottle three-quarters full of water. Add a little blue food coloring to turn the water pale blue. Add some small shells and small brightly colored toy fish; if you don't have any on hand, make some simple fish shapes from tinfoil. Seal the top very tightly. Show your baby how to shake the bottle so the water forms bubbles and ripples and the fish swim. When the contents settle, he can study the shells and fish at the bottom of the bottle, then shake it again.
