

Bonding with family

Strengthen your baby's bond with her extended family: aunts, uncles, and cousins all make up her wider family network so why not arrange a family get-together for those who live within traveling distance. A picnic, barbecue, or potluck lunch can be a great way for your little one to get to know everybody. She no longer needs to be in your arms to feel safe, but stay nearby so she can keep you in sight when she's with others.

Add sounds to feelings

By now your baby loves to communicate with you—and her listening skills are also improving. Introduce some new sounds that she will hear repeatedly and pick up to help her make herself understood in time. For example, if a toy tips over, say, “Uh oh, bear fell down,” or try “Aahh, dolly is sleeping,” and “Wheeeeeee, baby is bouncing.”
