

First birthday silhouette

A framed silhouette of your baby at 12 months makes a wonderful memento to mark his first birthday. Make several if you want to have one as a keepsake for yourself and give some away to family members. Take a photo of your baby for the silhouette, making sure he holds his head up so you can capture a clear profile of him.

1

Cut some patterned paper to fit a frame using a craft knife, ruler, and cutting mat. This will make up the background.

2

Using tracing paper, trace around a photo of your baby's profile, then cut out the template with a pair of scissors.
