

Unwind outside

On a warm, dry day, let your baby sleep outside in her carriage in the shade, in the yard or in a local park, while you relax beside her. Take a folding chair with you if there isn't an outside seat or bench, and let the sounds of the natural world help you unwind a little. Or take a picnic blanket and lie together under a leafy tree. Look up through the leaves at the sky and describe what you can see to her.
