

Ready, action

As a natural mimic, your baby will happily try to copy you. Prop him up, hold his hands in yours, and gently move his arms to one of his favorite action songs as you sing to him. He will love the repetition if you sing the song and do the actions several times.

Musical “hide-and-seek”

Your baby is becoming more adept at locating where sounds come from. Sit her in your lap and hold a rattle out to her left side where she can't see it. Gently shake the rattle and wait to see if she turns her head to find out where the sound comes from. Repeat several times on each side.
