

The grand old Duke of York

Either lie on the floor with your knees bent, feet resting on the floor, and your baby sitting on your abdomen, or sit with your back supported and your baby on your lap facing you. Hold her firmly around her middle with your hands and raise her up in the air and lower her down as you sing about marching up and down:

Oh, the grand old Duke of York,
He had ten thousand men;
He marched them up to the top of the hill,
And he marched them down again.

And when they were up, they were up,
And when they were down, they were down,
And when they were only half-way up,
They were neither up nor down.

Jack and Jill go up the hill

Sit with your back supported and your knees up with your baby on your lap facing you. In this position you can support her body as you gently bring her up and down. Gently tip to one side together as you finish.

Jack and Jill went up the hill,
To fetch a pail of water:
Jack fell down,
And broke his crown.
And Jill came tumbling after!
