

353 Go beachcombing

1
HR

You never know what you'll find on a beach. One day it could be a whole scallop shell, another day you could find fossils. Go on a beach walk and see what the tide has brought in for you.

What you need

- Sunglasses
- Beach footwear
- Beach bucket or a bag to hold your finds

1 Get started early—the best finds go to the first people on the beach.

2 Look along the tide line, but also check farther back. Sometimes the wind blows perfect shells away from the surf.

3 Get your feet wet. You can find great shells in the surf. Also try hunting after a storm when the tide is out.

4 Take only what you really want and can easily carry. Don't disturb any live creatures, and take all litter home.

SEA SNAIL

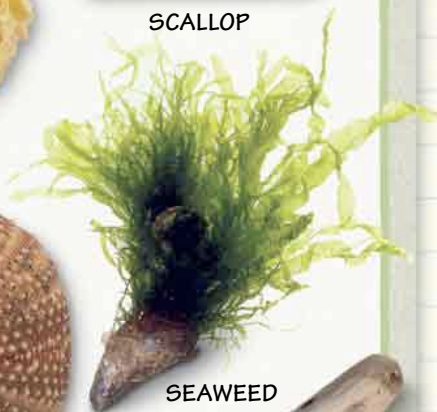

SCALLOP

SPONGE

SEA URCHIN

SEAWEED

DRIFTWOOD

354 Make a sand face

10
MINS

Use the beach as your artist's palette and make a face out of sand, shells, pebbles, driftwood, or anything else you can find. Or simply draw one in the sand with a stick. Make it as big as you like—the tide will wash it away.

Pebbles make a great nose

