

043 Plant a hanging basket

1
HR

A hanging basket is really a garden in miniature. Make your own and you can choose the colors and types of plant you want to put in it. Keep it well watered and it should give you weeks of colorful blooms.

What you need

- Wire hanging basket • Sphagnum moss • Plastic trash bag
- Plants • Compost

1 Line the basket with a thick layer of moss, then cut a piece of a trash bag to fit the basket and line it with this. Trim the edges of the liner level with the moss.

2 Make holes around the bottom and, working from the outside, insert some plants roots-first. Fill the bottom with potting compost.

3 Put more plants around the sides and on top, filling gaps with compost. Water the basket and hang it where it is on display and you can water it easily.

Hang it from a strong chain

Primulas and pansies are colorful
