Liven up your yard with some bright containers. Add acrylic paint to a terra-cotta pot and you can show off your plants as well as your artistic skills. Don't forget to weatherproof your designs with a layer of varnish.

What you need

- Terra-cotta pot
- Acrylic paint
- Glitter • Craft glue
- Paintbrushes
- Clear craft varnish

1 Paint the pot with a dark color toward the bottom. Use lighter shades of the same color as you move up the pot.

2 When the first coat is dry, add another color. Here we've put white paint daubs on a blue background to make clouds.

Flower design

3 When this layer dries, add another. Paint flowers, bugs—anything you like. Paint a shape in glue and sprinkle with glitter. Varnish the pot when dry.

Herbs tied on

Use string to tie herbs, such as rosemary, around the outside of a pot or basket. Fill the pot with flowers and give as a gift. Herbs stay fragrant for a long time.
