Use running stitch to sew two pieces of fabric together, or to make a broken line.

3

Pull the thread through

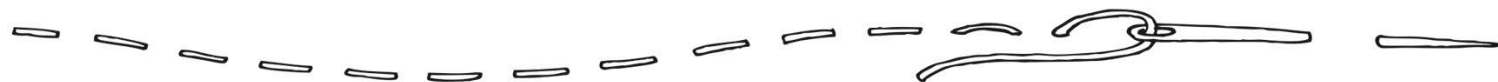

Pull the thread all the way through to the other side of the fabric.

4

Back to the front

Keeping the stitch the same size, push your needle to the front. Repeat to make more stitches.

2

Finish

Make another loop, then push the needle through it again. Pull tight so that the knot sits close to the fabric.

3

Trim the thread

Neaten the back of the fabric by snipping off the excess thread by the knot.
