

Space

Space is unimaginably huge and full of exciting things, such as planets, moons, galaxies, and black holes. It is also constantly changing—stars form from beautiful clouds of dust and gas, evolve through their life cycle to slowly die away, or go out with an enormous bang. Everything that has or will ever be formed was created in space—including the building blocks of you!