

If we are not, so much of what we can make may damage Earth. This is why we need to understand science better. We have a duty to make sure we use our knowledge of life and what is around us responsibly. This book is a start to understanding life on our remarkable planet.

Robert Winston.

Professor Robert Winston

