

Military personnel

China commands the world's largest active military force of more than 2 million—but this is only one-and-a-half soldiers in every thousand people. In North Korea, a massive one-fifth of males ages 17–54 are in the regular armed forces.

