

History

Easter Island statues

The giant statues, or moai, on this small Pacific island stand up to 33 ft (10 m) tall. They were carved with stone tools, mainly between 1250 and 1500, by the Polynesian people who settled the island.