

Vermont

The Green Mountains run right down the middle of Vermont. These forest-covered mountains attract outdoor adventurers who come to ski the slopes and enjoy the great outdoors. And while they're here, visitors can try some pancakes with Vermont's famous maple syrup!

State Facts

Abbreviation: VT

Capital: Montpelier

Nickname: The Green Mountain State

Statehood: 1791, 14th state

Population: 624,000 people

State flower: red clover

State bird: hermit thrush

Maple syrup

Vermont's sticky, sweet maple syrup comes from maple trees. First, the watery tree sap is collected in large pails. Then the sap is boiled down, leaving a delicious syrup that is sold all across the country.

