

Kentucky

Kentucky's rolling green hills and open countryside are ideal for its many grazing horses, but there's more than meets the eye. It's home to a gigantic underground cave system known as Mammoth Cave! Kentucky is also the birthplace of an original musical style known as bluegrass.

The "Happy Birthday" song was written by two sisters from Kentucky.

Kentucky horses

Some of the world's best racehorses were bred in Kentucky. The state is known for raising strong, fast horses that compete in the Kentucky Derby race each year. Kentucky locals say it's because their grass has high amounts of limestone, which gives their horses strong bones.

Horses grazing in Kentucky