Powwows

Each year the United Tribes Powwow is held in Bismarck, North Dakota—it's one of the biggest powwows in the country. A powwow is a special gathering of Indigenous tribes. It's a time to honor history, celebrate Indigenous culture, and pass down traditions to younger generations.

Scandinavian settlers

Many immigrants from Norway and Iceland arrived in North Dakota during the 1870s. Since then, Scandinavian culture has been celebrated here, especially in the town of Minot. It's home to the Scandinavian Heritage Park, and the Norsk Høstfest festival.
