Cesar Chavez

The fruit and vegetables that we eat are usually picked by farmworkers who move around the country as the seasons and crops change. It is very hard work. Cesar Chavez was an activist who fought for farmworkers to have good pay and safe working conditions.

Hoover Dam

The gigantic Hoover Dam was built to contain the powerful floods of the Colorado River and to generate electricity using the water's energy. This massive concrete structure sits on the border between Arizona and Nevada.

The delicate saguaro cactus blossom is the state flower of Arizona.
