

CITY ON THE SEA

The world's biggest cruise ship, Royal Caribbean International's Allure of the Seas, enters her home harbor of Port Everglades, Florida, in 2010. This gigantic, 16-deck floating hotel is almost as long as four football fields, and houses up to 6,318 guests who are looked after by a crew of 2,384 people. It's almost as if a small floating city has taken to the water.