

THE GIRL OF NERVE Daredevil wingwalker Lilian Boyer hangs from the wingtip of a Curtiss JN-4 Jenny biplane without a safety harness. Flying was new to the public in the 1920s and a ride in a biplane could be an unnerving experience for some, even when safely strapped into their seat. So, large crowds were thrilled by the exploits of barnstormers who performed amazing feats of daring in the sky.