

COMING IN LOW Vacationers sunning themselves on the Caribbean island of Saint Martin get their cameras out as an Air Caraïbes Airbus A330 airliner comes in to land at Princess Juliana International Airport. The stunning sight is repeated over the sands of Maho Beach several times day, as the Caribbean island airport receives more than 58,000 aircraft movements (takeoffs or landings) every year.