

At its greatest extent, the front of the September 2009 Australian duststorm stretched for 2,140 miles (3,450 km) from north to south

◀ PARCHED LAND

Duststorms increased in frequency in southern China after a severe drought in 2010-2011 dried out farmland and reservoirs, producing huge quantities of surface dust.