

Two sides

The brain has two sides. The left side controls the right side of our body, while the right side is in charge of the left side of the body!

The front part of the brain is all about your personality – how you behave, and what you like and don't like.

This part of the brain is in charge of how we move our bodies. It can tell us to walk, run, or dance!

Think about it

Your brain may look like a big wobbly ball of jelly, but it works like an amazing supercomputer. It sits in your head and allows you to see, hear, talk, move, feel, think, imagine, and remember.
