

Living buildings

These solar-powered residential towers are “living buildings”—the vegetation growing on them reduces humidity and helps keep the buildings cool in summer. They also attract many birds and butterflies.

About 800 trees;
5,000 shrubs; and 15,000 other plants cover the buildings.