

PRISMATIC TAPE

An optical prism refracts, or bends, light, and prismatic tape uses this property. It contains a layer of small prisms called "cube-corners," which direct light back to its source. This type of tape is used on vehicles and equipment, and when a light falls on it, it shines brightly.