

Driverless racing

The electric Robocar competes in Roborace, a competition for self-driving cars. Each team has the same vehicle but writes their own software. In 2019, Robocar broke the world record for fastest autonomous car, with a speed of 175 mph (282 km/h).